NOW HIRING

SUMMER CAMP ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATOR

Spend time outside, teaching elementary schoolers through South Platte River Environmental Education (SPREE) Summer Camp.

This 3-month position with The Greenway Foundation’s SPREE program offers a wide range of experiences in environmental education and youth development. From June-August, the position will work as a summer camp educator. Responsibilities include leading elementary-school-aged campers through daily activities, crafts and games about the environment, as well as ensuring the health and safety of the campers at all times. In addition, camp educators will work with middle and high school aged educators in training. This position will work at one of The Greenway Foundation’s two summer camp locations in Denver, CO.

HOW TO APPLY
